

Type Network Trial

Terms of use

A free trial font makes it easy for you to try any font Type Network offers.

You can use our Trial Fonts for just about anything, as long as your intent is to evaluate the fonts for eventual purpose.

If you choose not to use the trial fonts, no problem. You can keep them around to try out in future projects. Or you can delete them and come back later—they'll be stored in your Type Network account.

If you do want to use our fonts in your project, we're delighted! Just head back to typenetwork.com and purchase a license.

Here's some plain language to describe a summary of what you can and cannot do with TN Free Trial fonts. If you prefer the full legal-ese version, that's below.

Trial fonts do

- ✓ Create prototypes, comps, or tests for trial or internal review
- ✓ Create images, vectors, or PDFs
- ✓ Use on the web via TN hosted service in staging sites and apps
- ✓ Share fonts with anyone with a typenetwork.com account

Trial fonts don't

- ✗ Publish to the general public designs that use trial fonts
- ✗ Embed trial fonts in mobile apps, native apps, games, or eBooks
- ✗ Self-hosted websites
- ✗ Public websites

Here's a rule of thumb: If you're using fonts for the purpose of choosing which ones to license, you can try TN fonts. That includes sharing the fonts with people who need them to evaluate them, if they have a typenetwork.com account.

When the fonts will be seen by your customers or audience, you'll need to purchase a license. Meanwhile, we would love to see how you're using the fonts.
